MATERIAL MAKING

WORKSHOP: READING

CLASSIFICATION AND

CONTAINERS

Material making is an important task of the Montessori teacher. In this workshop we will look at two areas of materials that need on-going inspiration and renewal.

Reading classification: these materials are in constant use in a vibrant Montessori community. They are the bridge from single-word reading to easily reading books, and require annual up-dating. We will look at the different kinds of reading classification materials, including definition stages (land and water forms). Participants will receive resource materials to 'make and take' new items for the classroom, as well as making additional materials after the workshop.

REGISTRATION

Containers: nothing adds to the beauty of a Montessori environment more than lovely containers to hold the materials on the shelves and call the children to work with them. Workshop participants will 'make and take' boxes and pouches that will have various uses in their own environments.

WORKSHOP LEADER

Naoko Ogawa is an AMI Primary trainer. She has worked on Montessori training courses in Japan and WMI/Loyola, and currently co-directs the summer course at the Montessori Institute of Milwaukee.

Tuition: $100 (includes materials fee)
